

Dissertation Marking Sheet

Student: Peter Rakovan

Dissertation Title: The Impact of Just-in-Sequence Supply to the Wider SC

Pass / Fail: PASS
Mark Allocated (%)

Assessor: Prof. S. Dani

Supervisor: Prof. S. Dani

Date: 16/9/14

Originality
The project is a good application of SC inventory mgt. within the automotive sector. The study of Just-in-Seq. is original.
Appropriateness of aims, objectives and hypothesis
- The aims & objectives are fine, These could be written better.
Literature Review
- overall is good. - could be a bit more focussed & a bit more from the auto sector.

Methodology

* The methodology is appropriate.

Quality of Analysis

* The VSM is good & the timeline is interesting.

Appraisal Of Results, including limitations of research

* This is appropriate
* A bit more reflection w/ se theories will improve it further.

Potential For Future Research

* This can be improved as the aspect of a 'future state VSM' is missing.

Conclusions / Recommendations

* The conclusions are fine
* Can be more focussed with some more reflection.

Application and relevance to the field of logistics and supply chain management

* very appropriate

Grammar, Style, Structure, Presentation

- The structure, presentation & VSMs are good.
- The Grammar & language (in general) needs improving.

General Comments & Overall Quality

- Overall a very good study conducted at the company. The application & discussion of SC theories is good. A bit more reflection on the cases & data (wrt the VSM & improvement) will help to improve it further.

Signed:

SLAAN

Date:

17/9/14